Iain Miskimmin has been a director of COMIT for 11 years, helping the construction industry to innovate and bringing together the many different organisations understanding of the true value of technologies. This is a voluntary role supported by his day job as a director of the Digital Advancement Academies and the Crossrail BIM Academy. He is involved in many of the digital initiatives with the UK Government, UK BIM Alliance and Digital Built Britain.