Matt Gough, Director of Innovation, Mace

Having joined Mace in 2011, Matt was promoted to Director of Innovation in February 2017.

In his role, Matt is responsible for steering Mace in its ambition to be the catalyst for the next evolution of the construction industry. He drives the organisation’s innovation strategy and uptake of large-scale improvements, helping to embed a culture of innovation and a firm focus on productivity.

Matt supported the top line growth of Mace’s construction business from £600m to £2bn in 2017, and he played an important role in some of the business' biggest wins during that time. His career started in digital, having studied computing as part of his BA degree, and he is now aligning Mace’s interests with the innovation and technology being driven by the digital sector, as part of the transition to Industry 4.0.
